STUDENT ACTIVITY ASSOCIATION BAY ST. LOUIS HIGH SCHOOL PURCHASES $1000.00 OF WAR BONDS

At a meeting of the Student Activity Association of the Bay St. Louis High School, held Thursday afternoon, April 15th, 1943, the entire assembly voted unanimously in favor of their purchase and put their money to bonds, from the funds belonging to this association.

This patriotic gesture on the part of these young people is symbolic of the cooperative spirit of American Youth today, and the sacrifice of pleasures that these funds would have afforded is certainly an indication of their willingness to help, and they are to be commended on their prompt and unhesitating response to the call for funds now being made by the War Fund Drive.

May their actions prove an incentive to all today to delve deep into their purses and put their money to use for themselves and for their country. It can do you no good, nor anyone else, lying dormant. They have shown you where to put it, and where it will do the most good. Follow their example and you will certainly be doing your part. You may not have a thousand dollars to invest, but whatever amount you have and can afford, your Country needs it, and you need only to put forth your best efforts, as these young people have done, and lend the most that you have, and you will have done your share.

Victoria Sabatier Dies From Burns Received Wednesday Afternoon

Victoria Sabatier was accidentally burned at her home in Main street Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock and died Thursday morning as a result of the burns. It was said that she was boiling clothes in her yard and her clothing caught fire. She called but Augustine Tavallo who made her home with Victoria being deaf did not hear the calls and when help reached she was so badly burned that it became almost impossible to do much. She died at about 4 a. m. Thursday morning.

She was the wife of the late Martin Sabatier who died about six months ago. Both she and her husband were splendid colored people and it was rather tragic that Victoria should have lived past her three score and ten and to have died in this manner.

WAR RATION BOARD COLUMN

The new price regulations on meat, effective tomorrow, will fix specific prices, establish grades and standard cuts, and will require every retailer to post the new ceilings conspicuously in his store, district OPA manager said today.

Effective tomorrow, no retailer can charge more for the 102 cuts of beef, veal, lamb and mutton in five officially established grades of beef and veal, four grades of lamb and three grades of mutton than the ceiling prices named by OPA. However, a retailer at any time may charge less than these ceilings.

Ceiling on Pork
Price ceilings were put on pork on April 1.

The beef, veal, lamb and mutton regulation is the first to establish grade prices at the consumer level for meats. It requires the retailer to have all meats in his store properly grade-marked according to government standards.

Standardized Cuts
To place all consumers and retailers on the same footing, retail cuts of meat will be standardized as to cutting and trimming, and no retail cuts of these meats other than those described in the new price regulations may be sold by storekeepers.

Beginning April 15, every storekeeper must keep available for inspection the official OPA price list for retail cuts of beef, veal, lamb and mutton, if he has any of these meats for sale. In case of overcharge, the consumer may sue for a minimum of $50 and costs.

If sales slips or receipts were customarily given to customers, this practice must be continued.

Must Give Receipts
Regardless of previous practice, the storekeeper must, on any client's request, give a receipt showing the date, the retailer's name and address, name and weight of each cut sold and the grade of the meat.

All meat in retail stores now must be graded and marked with either the grade mark of the department of agriculture or the OPA grade letter.

The retailer must now post a list of all his ceiling prices as set by the new regulation, and the OPA will supply official price lists for posting.

Dealers in 2 Groups
Special regulations have been set for hamburger under the new order. Hamburger is defined as made from beef cut from the skirt, flank, shanks, neck, plate, brisket, heel of round and from clean lean beef trimmings. It must not contain more than 25 percent beef fat.

Pre-Grind Meat
Retailers are prohibited from selling any pre-ground meat unless it is ground beef, ground veal, or ground lamb as defined in the regulation. Retailers may grind any retail cut of meat the customers desire, but he must do the grinding in view of the customer and may not charge for the grinding.

RED CROSS FUNDS GROWING

Quota of $5700 Has Almost Been Reached—Do Your Part Today

Mr. Lucien Gex, chairman, Red Cross War Fund Campaign announces that the top has almost been reached with donations still coming in.

who is it that has failed to make their donations? Possibly before you read this you will have remembered to do have done so. It may be your donation that is needed to make the $5700. So put it in today.

Miss Miriam Engman, county chairman of the Red Cross Nutrition Unit has had on exhibit at the Beach Drug Store a sample of an American Red Cross Prisoner of War Food Package. This box contains 5 packages of cigarettes, 1/2 lb. Craft American Cheese, 1/2 lb. Domino Cube Sugar, 2 cakes soap, 1 can concentrated orange juice, 1 can Nestle Cafe, 2 lb. Emergency rationing chocolate, 1 lb. giant prunes, 1 package K-2 biscuit squares, 1 can corn beef, 1 can salmon, 1 can spiced lunch meat, 1 lb. Oleo and 1 can concentrated pure liver.

These packages may be sent to men in the prisons through the Red Cross and these are allowed to the prisoners.

If you are in doubt as to how the armed forces feel about the Red Cross read this excerpt from a letter Captain Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, Jr., son of former senator from New Jersey, now a prisoner of war in Italy, wrote his mother, after being captured by the Germans: "I am a transient prisoner camp in Italy. See the Red Cross about my address. Can receive mail and parcels. Please don't have a fit. I am much better off than you might think. Don't forget your contribution to the Red Cross."

Again he writes: Red Cross food packages are extremely welcome. They are being received weekly. Please send some toilet articles and wool clothing. I am sure the Red Cross will tell you the details about the size of the box."

In a letter to his wife Captain Frelinghuysen, who was awarded a silver star for gallantry in action when landing at Oran, says "Things are going generally well. I hope you are still working for the Red Cross."

If a prisoner can appreciate Red Cross and what it is doing how much more should the people at home want to give to this organization?

It is money that is needed by the men at the front—then money must be given and it is the donation of the person with a limited income whose donation is after all, the largest.

If you wish to send a package or mail just contact Miss Miriam Engman or Mrs. Louis Maumus, executive secretary of the local chapter and see that your food package is the required weight and assure you of its being rushed through to the addressee.

HERMAN BAXTER AWARDED HIGHEST CAMPUS HONORS

Herman Baxter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Baxter of New Orleans, former residents of Bay St. Louis has been awarded the highest campus honor of Ole Miss—membership in the Hall of Fame.

Young Baxter graduated from Ole Miss in January and is now at an Officers Candidate School at Fort Benning, Georgia. He made an enviable record and was elected president of the student body, an honor to be coveted by any student.

Heading the student body during a year of war emergency, he, by his far-sighted leadership maintained a policy of keeping student life in harmony with the changing conditions. Always cooperative with the administration in adhering to wartime restrictions, he still strived to see that student activities were carried on. During his three and a half years he qualified for membership in Phi Eta Sigma, was named to the honor roll, was active in R. O. T. C., was made cadet captain and was elected vice-commander of Hood's Brigade, a junior military organization.

He was an able speaker and debater and was president of the Hermaean Literary Society. He was also a member of the Young Men's Christian Association. His name appeared last year in the "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" which is one of the highest honors of college students.

Much credit is due Mr. Baxter because he began his college life on limited finance and kept himself in school by his own efforts.

Bay St. Louis is proud of the record of this Bay High graduate and claims him as a home boy.

BUD'S LETTER

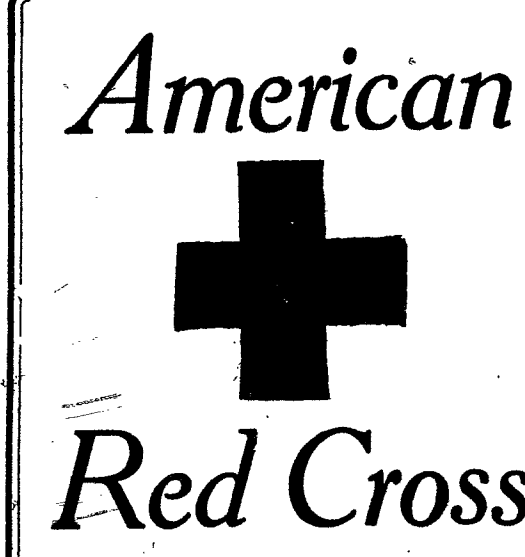

Well, I have been reading about this war bond drive that is on now and seeing as how I know a little something about everything else, I want to say a little about war bonds and staphs.

Now, around Briar Hill we calls them offense bonds because of the way Eisenhower, Anderson, Montgomery and Stalin is offending Hitler. Also, us folks in the Briar Hill "400" (there is only 99 people who live there but we got a "400" anyhow) realize this is a loan with good interest, so being smart we buys 'em as fast as we can. Personally I'm afraid other people will buy those things up before I get all I want, so I'm getting a few on hand. Too, war bond ain't rationed yet and they won't spoil, so before some smart aleck decides to ration 'em I'm going to hoard up a few.

Us folks around Briar Hill had a very pleasant experience the other day. Some fellow comes out there to organize a bond drive (he didn't know we had exceeded our quota by 50 per cent) and starts telling us how patriotic it was to buy those things. Now Red, we don't consider it patriotic to buy bonds, but some folks seem to. The only patriotic people in the U. S. are those giving their lives blood to protest us folks at home. My wife's brother told that organization this, and he also says we are buying bonds to actually protect ourselves. The soldiers who gave us everything are the patriots. Anyhow, the organizer didn't organize.

Red, these bonds are not to save the U. S. They are to save our own homes; our children, our wives and mothers. When you buy your bond tomorrow Red, don't think it's your patriotic duty to Uncle Sam because it ain't—it's your patriotic duty to Red's wife and children.

BUD.

Thousands of vital messages concerning service men killed in action—reported missing, or taken prisoners of war have been returned to Washington in the past few months as "unclaimed" mail. At the request of the War and Navy Departments, Red Cross Home Service is attempting to trace the persons to whom these messages were sent.

To facilitate the delivery of such messages, the Red Cross has asked all persons listed as "next of kin" on servicemen's records to leave forwarding or emergency addresses with their local post offices when they move.

At the April meeting of the St. Joseph Academy Parents Club held at the convent recently, it was voted to give a donation of $50.00 from the club's treasury to the War Fund Drive of the Hancock Chapter of the American Red Cross.

JUNIOR RED CROSS TURNS IN $103.35 TO RED CROSS

The Junior Red Cross of Bay High School has turned in $103.35 to the Red Cross War Fund. This is far above their quota and the following classes went over the top: Junior class $15.25; third grade, $10.75; 8th Grade, $10.55; and seventh grade $10.00; first grade $9.44; Seniors $9; Sophomores $8.50 and Freshmen $8. Each room was taxed $8 and other rooms fell below that amount.

This amount was raised by the students by denying themselves small luxuries and even when they were helped by their families they still sacrificed.

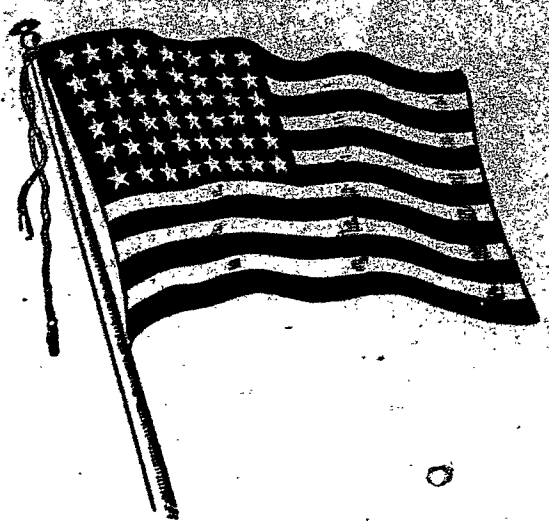

TRIPLE DROWNING SUNDAY AFTERNOON UP JORDAN RIVER

On last Sunday afternoon, Palestine Davis, colored soldier stationed at the Bombing Range and two women companions, Louise Acker and Mary Haines, were all drowned when the small boat in which they were rowing capsized and threw them into the waters of Lake Carroll.

According to reports, the three negroes had gone for a trip on Lake Carroll and the small boat was evidently overloaded.

Fishers found the body of Mary Haines floating in the lake later in the afternoon on Sunday while the body of Louise Acker was recovered on Monday and that of Palestine Davis on Wednesday after continued searches and dragging of the lake.

The bodies of Mary Haines and Louise Acker, the two women, were turned over to relatives residing in rural sections of the county and the body of the soldier, Palestine Davis, was turned over to the military, after a coroner's jury rendered a verdict of death by drowning.

LT.-GOV. MURPHREE REVEALS SCHOOL PROBLEM SOLUTION

LEUTENANT-Governor Dennis Murphree out of the wealth of his legislative knowledge and experience, tells the state legislators and school officials how the school authorities may anticipate an increase in their appropriations prior to the convening of a special session which Governor Johnson has definitely promised to call for this purpose before the end of the year.

School officials, seeking to have the special session called earlier than Governor Johnson deems wise or advisable, contended that teachers' and bus drivers' contracts for next year must be signed in the near future, and that the additional appropriation therefore should be made immediately available.

Governor Murphree says this is not necessary. He suggests: "If a majority of the members of the present legislature agree that when called into special session they will vote for the proposed appropriation for schools, Governor Johnson, if he sees fit, could immediately authorize the State Board of Education to exceed the present budget in the sum of two million dollars, and they, in turn, could notify local boards of trustees to contract with teachers and bus drivers on the basis of the increased amount."

"Under this plan, the exact and identical result would be reached right now just the same as if the legislature were to meet next week and vote the appropriation."

This proposal seems simple, practical, and adequate. Lt.-Gov. Murphree supports it with citations of past instances in which former governors, acting under existing laws, thus authorized state departments and agencies to exceed their budgets.

While Attorney General Greek Rice was out of the city for the week-end and could not be reached, it is understood that he holds this course legal. This being true there can be no substantial objection to this solution of the school problem.

It has been estimated that this two million dollar increase in the public school budget will give an average increase to teachers and bus drivers of about $15.00 per month. That would not mean much to brick masons, hod carriers, plumbers, steel workers, teamsters and others in that class—in fact, it is insignificant as compared with CIO Lewis' demand for a two dollar a day increase for workers in the coal mines,—but to the overworked and underpaid school teachers of Mississippi it will mean much.—Jackson Clarion Ledger.

EDITOR'S NOTE: On April 24th, 1942, this paper carried an editorial on the problems of the school teachers in Hancock County and throughout the State of Mississippi. Since that time the situation has grown worse and it is doubtful if many of the schools will be able to open next session, due to the fact that teachers will not be available.

We certainly cannot blame any person who has to have a college degree to teach, when they leave a job of teaching that pays about $50.00 per month, when living conditions have changed as they have within the past two years. How can we expect a teacher, who has to live up to a certain standard of life, to exist on this pittance?

We are in thorough accord with the thoughts of our Lieutenant Governor, if this can be handled legally without the calling of a special session of the Legislature. It is our belief that this would be the proper method of procedure. Let's quit thinking about it and get down to business. Talking will not help the underpaid teachers, but will only deprive the children of this county and state of their schooling next year and until such time as the economic situation of this country is adjusted. What we need now is ACTION.

HIGHLIGHTIN' the MOONLIGHT
With Fun-makin' and Love-makin' to make you romantically ecstatic over its gay laughs and tip-top tunes...

ORTTE THEATER
PRESENTS SUN.-MON.
JANE FRAZEE-DENNIS
O'KEEFE in "MOONLIGHT MASQUERADE"

A earthquake of entertainment hit
"Moonlight Masquerade," is smoothly blending comedy, romance, and song, it ranks as one of the season's most enjoyable films.

The cast is an extraordinary good one. Dennis O'Keefe is in top form as a happy-go-lucky playboy, while Jane Frazee wins praise for an equally well-enacted characterization. — Stage comedienne Betty Kean makes her film debut in this picture and scores a hit both in the comedy and musical sequences. In the supporting cast the standouts are Eddie Foy, Jr., Erno Verebes, Paul Harvey,
Jed Prouty and Franklin Pangborn.

In the unrelenting of the story, John Bennett (Dennis O'Keefe) and Victoria Forrester (Jane Frazee) stand to inherit a one-third interest in the Forrester-Bennett Oil Company—but only on the condition that they marry each other. They have never met, however, and neither wishes to go through with the marriage.

In order to win the entire inheritance for herself, Victoria plans to trick John into signing away his claim. John, however, is equally determined that Victoria shall relinquish her claim to the prize. The ensuing "battle" between the two provides some of the most hilarious comedy sequences ever filmed for any motion picture.

Highlighting "Moonlight Masquerade" are the three songs written by the famous team of Mort Greene and Harry Revel—"But Are We Worried
—Yes," "Liverlip Louise," and "What Am I Doing." Each is sure to achieve
"hit" rating.

On the technical side, top credit goes to John H. Auer, who was the associate producer-director.

"COMMANDOS" BEST
OF ALL WAR DRAMAS
AT A. & G. THEATER

Sunday and Monday—Paul
Muni Stars as Guerrilla
Patriot

Told with all the white-hot fury
of men fighting for their homeland,
freedom and the women they love, Columbia's "Commandos Strike at Dawn" will blaze across the screen of the A. & G. Theater as the most magnificently thrilling drama of romance and adventure the war has yet produced. First great motion picture drama of the world's most fabulous fighting men. "Commandos Strike at Dawn" stars Paul Muni and features a stellar supporting cast which includes Anna Lee, Lillian Gish, Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Robert Coote.

"Commandos Strike at Dawn" is based upon the C. S. Forrester Cosmopolitan magazine story of a Norwegian patriot who, forced to flee when his underground activities are exposed, escapes to England with vital military information concerning an enemy airport in his beloved country. He leads a Commando raid on the field, and upon his own town, rescuing his friends and neighbors
from the hated Nazis.

Essentially, "Commandos Strike at Dawn" is a simple story but its every character and every scene is a never-to-be-forgotten emotional experience. Muni appears as the Norwegian, a meteorologist, a simple philosopher who watches the horror of Nazi occupation turn his happy village into a confusion of terror and hatred. Realizing that the time has come to kill or be killed, he mobilizes the people of his community to make incessant and unrelenting warfare.

The Commando raid which climaxes the film is a breathless example of motion picture production at its finest, a slashing, smashing record of bitter, relentless struggle.
Heroic in scene and sweep, the raid sequences capture all the bitter, angry excitement and controlled, split-second timing of fighting men who have a job to do, weapons to do it with, and training beyond compare.
Lester Cowan produced "Commandos Strike at Dawn."

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

It's real puzzling...the way the human race has worked out a whole set of cut-and-dried alibis for its shortcomings.

You've heard a lot of them—
"My alarm clock didn't go off."
"I left my money in my other suit." "I was sittin' up with a sick friend."

And then the one about the two beers.
Every once in a while you read about some ornery cuss getting himself into trouble and then protesting that all he had to drink was "a couple of beers."

Personally, I don't ever remember seeing a couple of glasses of good beer get anybody into mischief.

And from where I sit it looks like the fellow that blames his misbehavior on a "couple of beers"
isn't really fooling anybody.
But he is being mighty unfair to the people that enjoy the right to a sensible moderate drink like beer.

Completes Scrap Book

Miss Lucy Richardson, chairman
scrap book committee Bay-Waveland Garden Club has completed the book and it has been sent to the Federation State Garden Clubs for the contest.

This greater part of the book is Miss Richardson's handwork and is a work of art.

The title page has the pine branches done in water colors by Miss Richardson.

Also a water color of Wisteria,
the club's flower.

Part 1 of the book is devoted to the monthly activities of the club with a picture of the home of each hostess press reports of the meeting and a water color of some flower grown by that hostess.

Part 2 is devoted to Victory garden, canning and preserving activities so much of which has been sponsored by the club. Special speakers have been on the program at these meetings to give information and instructions for that type of work. This section of the book is also illustrated by water colors.

A patriotic page is devoted to picture and accounts of different courtesies extended to the men in service. One page is devoted to the club's part in Red Cross work with pictures of club members at work on some phase of Red Cross work, sending the boys to the conservation school. This page shows work done by the club along the line of conservation and is one of the very interesting sections of the book.

Miss Richardson's garden is always a beauty spot and there is a page of pictures of the rare plants in her garden and the press notices.

Miss Richardson somewhat of an artist herself has done a fine piece of work and will be a valuable record of club activities as well as being an artistic piece of work.

Candidate For
State Superintendent
Of Education

To the People of Mississippi:
In announcing my candidacy again for State Superintendent of Public Education, I am profoundly grateful for the 128,902 votes received in the August, 1939, primary. Having been practically unknown, without an organization, with but very little financial support, and having had to compete with a well-organized statewide political machine, I modestly agree with our friends in saying,
"Our vote four years ago was highly satisfactory."

To the hundreds of people throughout the State who did not support us in the other campaign but who, realizing the need of an educational awakening, have manifested an interest in our behalf this time, I want to say that we appreciate your encouragement and are happy to have you join us in this great campaign for the educational welfare of Mississippi.

In due time, I shall submit my views on maintaining and improving our public school system during this tragic era and the post-war period so as to provide equal educational opportunities for all the children of all the people according to their individual needs, abilities, and vocational interests, as modified by the ideals of the community and state.

I plan to see as many of you as possible, but since the War prevents a normal campaign, I humbly ask that you visit our headquarters in the John Hart Building when in Jackson or write us, making any suggestions or offering any assistance which will tend to improve our educational status or augment our Victory campaign.

Sincerely,

War Job to do in April

Our Challenge IN THE 2nd WAR LOAN CAMPAIGN

★ Our Government is asking American citizens to lend it 13 billion dollars during the period April 12-30. Mississippi's part of this vital war job is $25,310,000. We can do it—we must do it—we must all realize the cold, hard truth: This is the toughest war in the history of our nation. We've made a good start—but we've only started. We've got to build more materials of war and we've got to fight more—which means we've GOT TO BUY MORE WAR BONDS! Seven different types of U. S. Government securities are being offered—you can choose the ones best suited to you. Just be sure to CHOOSE TO BUY SEVERAL TIMES MORE THAN YOU'VE BEEN BUYING.

★ OUR COUNTY has a larger quota for this 2nd War Loan Drive (see map on right) than at any previous time since the beginning of this war. This means we have gotten down to really fighting this war—fighting it with materials and men—and with our dollars! Let's do as our fighting men are doing on every front—let's charge forward without delay and reach the objective! For our country's sake—for the sake of our brave fighting men—for our own sake—let's invest ALL WE CAN in April!

Extortion And Robbery

After more than two years of consideration in committee, the House last week passed a bill which would make extortion and robbery in interstate commerce a felony under the laws of the United States. Every state in the union has a law against extortion and robbery, and it is therefore surprising to learn that the vote in the House was 370 to 107. The fact that 107 Members of the House voted against a Federal law which would make the crimes of extortion and robbery in interstate commerce a violation of the law needs some explanation. That explanation is simply this:

The Labor unions opposed the law. It might be interesting to observe why the Labor unions would oppose a law against extortion and robbery. The answer is that the law was conceived and enacted because members of certain labor unions in the larger cities such as New York, Chicago, Richmond and others, objected to people driving trucks into these cities to deliver produce or to obtain produce unless those trucks were driven by members of recognized labor unions. This meant that a farmer living in the outskirts of Richmond, Virginia, for instance, could not drive his own truck loaded with his own cabbage, turnips, or apples, which he had city to market them without employing a union driver for some $10.00 a day to drive the truck into the city. This, of course, became an intolerable condition and meant, in the final analysis, that the freedom of highways and the freedom of operation in interstate commerce was curtailed. For it was shown by the farmer's son who attempted to drive his produce to town in his own truck was stopped at the city entrance by labor racketeers, and if the farmer or his son refused to pay the tribute of $10.00 to those labor racketeers he was not permitted to deliver his goods into the city. In some instances these people were beaten up, the perishable products were dumped on the ground, and they went home with bloody noses and heads.

Congress in 1934 passed a bill which had for its purpose the stopping of this abuse by making extortion and robbery a felony under the Federal Law. But the Supreme Court in a recent decision held that this did not apply to labor unions. Therefore, the bill sponsored by Representative Hobbs of Alabama, and brought to the floor under a rule sponsored by us, was passed and now goes to the Senate. But it was passed only after a bitter fight by organized labor.

We took the position on the floor of the House in support of the Bill that these labor racketeers were doing a great disservice to the cause of organized labor by placing them in the unbelievable position of upholding and condoning extortion and robbery. We further took the position that the average laboring man did not appreciate this type of leadership; and that the average laboring man is just as honest and patriotic as any other class of our citizens. We further pointed out that if this practice and this type of labor leadership should continue labor would pull the temple down upon its own head and destroy all of the just and proper advancement that labor has made. We further stated that this bill presented a challenge to the Congress and the country would have an opportunity to see whether the Congress was big enough to deal with a question where the leadership of organized labor opposed the will of the people and the Congress.

Edible and Oil Peanuts

Peanut growers have written asking the price of peanuts under the 1943 parity formula. Peanuts, irrespective of their use—whether edible or for oil—will be supported at the same price, at not less than 85 percent of the parity price of January 15, 1943, or July 15, 1943, whichever is the higher. This would mean an average price to farmers of approximately $129 per ton for all types of peanuts. Plans are being shaped for the establishment of one or more local markets in each county having a peanut goal, so that farmers may market their peanuts by direct sale to oil mills, shellers or cooperatives. Peanuts delivered in bulk to agency warehouse will be $4 a ton less than if delivered in bags. Top grade Spanish peanuts will be not less than $136 per ton.
